Instructor Survey: At the end of every fall & spring semester, the Students First Office asks course instructors to provide feedback about Starfish. The Fall 2022 Instructor Survey will be available to all undergraduate course instructors November 28 through December 9. Email invites are forthcoming.

Support Network Survey: At the end of every Fall semester, we ask academic support staff* with the ability to view flag data to provide feedback on their use of Starfish. The Fall 2022 Support Network Survey will be available to all academic support staff November 28 through December 9. Email invites are forthcoming.

*This survey does not include academic advisors. Academic advisors are invited to provide feedback every spring semester.

End of Term Academic Status Report
The End of Term Academic Status Report (ASR) went out to instructors of undergraduate courses on October 25. Instructors are asked to complete this 11th-week report so students can take appropriate action on their academics before final grades are posted. Raising applicable academic flags, personal concern flags, and referrals will also allow academic advisors and support staff to help students prepare for any necessary appeals and make course schedule adjustments for the next semester.

For questions about Academic Status Reports, please visit UNCG's Starfish website for additional information and available training resources.

Starfish & Winter Term 2022

Starfish EARLY ALERT will remain available during the winter term to allow instructors to issue flags, kudos, and select referrals for students enrolled in their courses. Instructors will not be asked to complete any Academic Status Reports during Winter term.

Starfish CONNECT appointment scheduling will remain available to allow instructors and staff to post appointment availability for their students. Instructors and staff who will be away during this time should remove all appointment availability from Starfish prior to leaving to prevent scheduling conflicts.

For assistance, contact Starfish support at starfish@uncg.edu.

Clearing Fall 2022 Feedback

Every academic term, students begin with zero flags, kudos, and referrals. The Starfish administrator is responsible for clearing out feedback items from the prior semester. Fall 2022 feedback items will be cleared on December 9 to allow students to enter the winter and spring terms with a fresh start. Cleared fall items will remain available for historical viewing in the students folder, but the status will show as resolved.
